

WILL SAVE "UNCLE JOE" FOR FIGHT

Insurgents Will Not Unseat Him But Will Make "Cannonism" an Issue

ROOSEVELT MAY HELP

Conservatives May Be Unable to Restrain Radicals and "Something" May Happen.

Washington, May 23.—It became apparent today that "Cannonism" will be one of the big issues in the coming congressional campaign. A powerful wing of the house insurgents, the "conservatives," has determined not to attempt to unseat "Uncle Joe" as speaker at this session, but to save him as a big issue for their fight for re-election this fall. As told exclusively in the United Press dispatches yesterday, they feel confident that on this issue they will have the support of Col. Roosevelt because of his attitude toward Cannon, which he outlined to the insurgents on the day he quit the presidency.

A certain number of radical insurgents, however, believe that an attempt should be made to oust Cannon from the speakership at this session. The conservative insurgents say that if Cannon continues baiting the insurgents as in his New York speech when he declared that "shooting was too good for them," they should be hanged, and in numerous speeches on the floor, they will be unable to restrain the radicals.

Meanwhile Cannon and the house organization are facing a rather uncomfortable situation. As one progressive today expressed it, "they are sitting on a powder mine and they have no idea just when it is going to explode."

They have grown extremely suspicious and the appearance of Norris or Murdoch, the insurgent leaders, on the floor with a bill of any kind is a signal for activity. Representative Dwight (Rep. New York) the organization whip, is kept busy. If a majority of the progressives appear on the floor at one time, the organization members into the chamber. One of the reasons why the progressives hesitate to attempt to depose Cannon immediately is the difficulty they would encounter in electing his successor. The insurgents would not vote for a Democrat or a regular Republican, and the Democrats would not elect an insurgent. For their own protection the insurgents would be forced to deadlock the house, with every day valuable in the coming fight at the polls.

With Cannon as an issue, the insurgents believe their chances for victory will be greatly increased, especially if they succeed in drawing Col. Roosevelt actively into the campaign to gain pledges against the re-election of Cannon.

The Democrats are not particularly worried about Cannon just now, as they expect to have a majority in the next house, in which event they would name a Democratic speaker.

LET'S HOPE IT'S TRUE

New York, May 23.—Captain Bradley S. Osborn, secretary of the Anti-Club, and closest friend of Dr. Cook, declared today that Dr. Cook is and has been in Europe for many months, and that he will return in October with indisputable proof that he reached the pole.

"Cook will not come before the public again," said Osborn, "until he can look every detractor in the face and say 'You're a liar!'"

Both men lived at Bremen.

CLAIM THAT PROHIBITION WAVE THROUGHOUT UNITED STATES IS FAST SUBSIDING

Cincinnati, May 23.—"Prohibition is admittedly a hideous force. It does not destroy the demand for liquor, but merely degrades the channels through which the supply flows. It lowers the moral tone of the community. Business stagnation invariably follows prohibition. Recognition of these facts, according to Percy Andrea, president of the Ohio Brewers' Vigilance Bureau, is the reason why the prohibition wave is fast subsiding throughout the United States. His address on this topic was the chief feature of today's session of the convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association. He declared that it was up to the liquor dealers and the brewers to reform the trade. "The solution of what is called the liquor problem must come from the dealers themselves," he continued. "As soon as we suggest remedies, they will be adopted."

SEYLER TRIAL

RESUMED AND DUPLICATE OF PIER RAILING ERECTED IN COURT ROOM.

Prosecution Has Finished, Summing Up for Jury—Seyler Was Composed on Witness Stand.

May's Landing, N. J., May 23.—The trial of Wm. T. Seyler, accused of the murder of 18-year-old Jane Adams on the pier at Atlantic City last February was resumed today.

A duplicate of the railing on the pier over which the girl is supposed to have fallen, according to the theory argued by the defense, was erected in the court room today under the direction of the attorney for the accused. It was very low and the defense alleges that Jane Adams not being familiar with it, stumbled and fell over it after she went behind the Wave motor house to get out of the wind.

All of the witnesses that have testified for Seyler so far have given purely negative testimony. It has been proven that he went to the Hotel Chelsea trying to get a job in the fire room the night of the tragedy and that nothing unusual was noticed in his behavior. This was shortly before 8 o'clock the night the Adams girl disappeared. His wife and members of the family have sworn that he was in the house shortly after 8 o'clock that night.

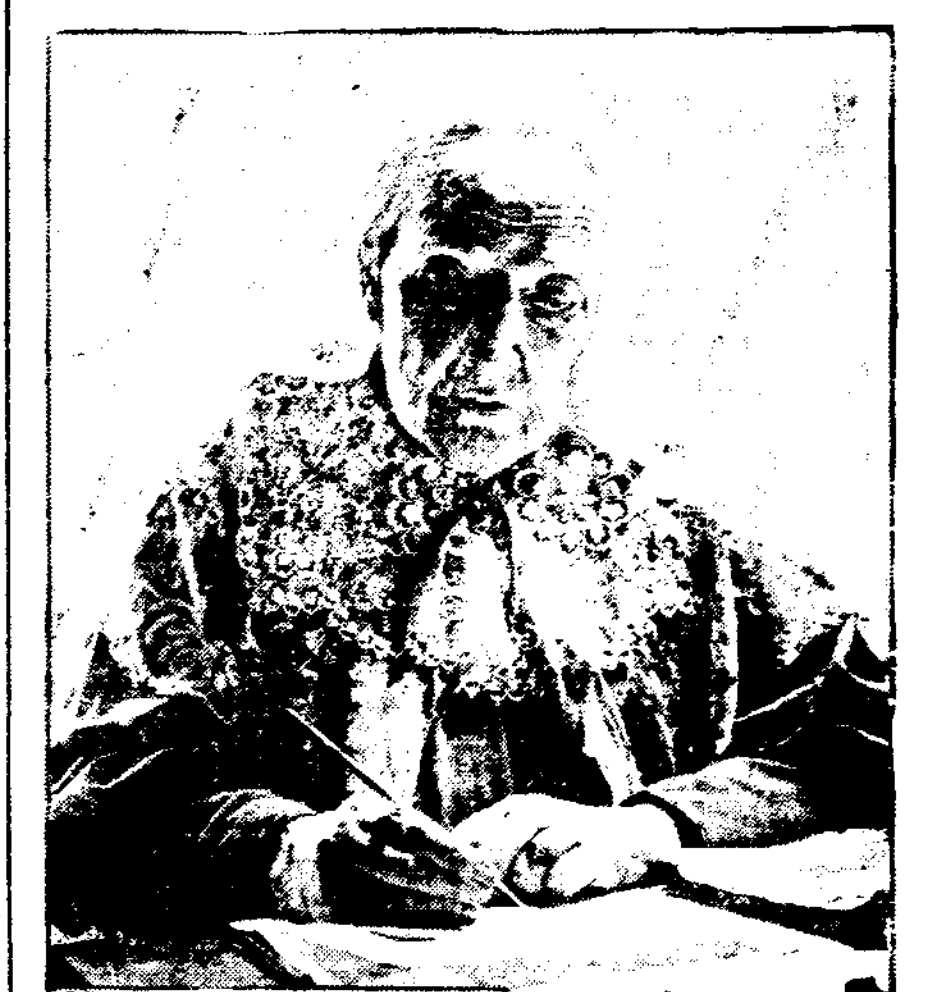

Prosecutor Goldenberg today finished summing up his case for the jury. He based his argument that the girl had been murdered while trying to prevent assault, on the disarranged condition of her clothing when found.

Seyler was composed on the stand and withstood cross-examination without faltering. He swore he had been given doped cigarettes after his arrest.

P. Locke, the local candidate for the Senate, was endorsed and authorized to name his own delegates. Rose also led a fight on the state delegates and was defeated in this effort.

WILL ATTEMPT FLIGHT FROM ALBANY TO NEW YORK

New York, May 23.—Glenn H. Curtiss will attempt on Thursday the most ambitious flight ever the water that has ever been essayed in an aeroplane. Under the terms of competition offered by the New York World, he will try to fly from Albany to New York with one stop, although two are allowed.

For the last six months Curtiss has been maneuvering for the prize of $10,000 offered by the World for a flight from New York to Albany or reverse with one stop. Recently he has been conducting experiments to determine the ability of his latest model to light on the water and float without upsetting. Without airtight compartments, necessary to sustain the aeroplane upon the water, Curtiss believes he could fly from Albany to New York in one lap. Prudence dictating safeguards against accidents, however, he has felt it necessary to equip himself with life buoys and the weight of the life buoys necessarily deducts from what

The police are certain that Tobarella was the first one chosen to attempt the king's assassination. Others of the band will now be chosen by lot.

SUBPOENA FOR HEAD OF TRUST

Pres. Thomas of American Sugar Refining Co., to Appear as Witness

GIVES OUT STATEMENT

Secretary-Treasurer and Five Subordinates Being Tried for Conspiracy.

New York, May 23.—Washington B. Thomas, president of the American Sugar Refining Co., has been subpoenaed by the government and probably will appear as a witness at the trial of Charles R. Heike, secretary-treasurer of the company.

Heike, with five subordinates, is being tried in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government by underweighing sugar. Thomas appeared in court with Dr. Samuel D. Hooker, of Philadelphia, a director of the company, but left hurriedly after he was informed his presence was not needed. Just when he will testify was not announced. As he left the federal building, the head of the sugar trust said:

"I have just been summoned here as a witness, that is all I know. I presume I will be called to the stand later. I really have no idea what it is the government wishes to find out from me."

The name of Henry O. Havemeyer, one time head of the trust, but in his grave, figured prominently in yesterday's testimony. It was brought out on cross-examination by the defense in an attempt to clear Heike. The witness was John A. Thompson, a bookkeeper in the company's Wall street offices. He testified that Heike knew nothing about weights at the docks, but he could not give a clean record for James F. Bendernagel, former cashier, and one of the defendants.

The government's contention that the city weighers' weights were employed in the commercial calculations of the trust and those of the government weighers made use of only for payment of duties was backed up by Thompson. The witness said, too, that despite the fact that the government weighers' returns were stowed away only 15 feet from him, he never, in all the years he worked in the office, compared the two sets of weights.

Thompson said that whenever he was in doubt as to the correctness of the city weighers' returns or learned there was a difference of 2 per cent or more in the returns, he would call up Bendernagel. Late in November, 1907, there was considerable falling off in these differences and he talked with Bendernagel about it over the telephone.

"I told him there was no loss of weight in the past three months and he said it was because the government agents were on the dock," Thompson testified.

Thompson said Havemeyer first instructed him to call up Bendernagel when the necessity arose. Mr. Heike knew nothing of his duties, he said. The witness had no knowledge of any crooked device on the docks.

George H. Becker, a clerk in the Wall street office, under Mr. Leroy, to whom Spitzer yesterday testified he had told of the frauds that were going on at the Williamsburg docks, testified that the sugar trust used the government weights quite often on which to pay freight charges, but the shipowners became aware of the fact and the practice was stopped. This was the first testimony introduced tending to show that the alleged frauds in underweighing were not directed against the government.

Oliver Spitzer, the convicted dock superintendent who was pardoned by President Taft and is now aiding the government in the prosecution, will be the star witness today. On Monday he gave direct testimony and he is yet to undergo cross-examination. It is said that the government does not rely on his evidence alone to convict Heike.

Oliver Spitzer, on the stand in the Heike trial, today declared that the trial of the sugar trust, organized by the late Henry O. Havemeyer, was a "black hole."

To newspaper men after leaving the stand, Spitzer had not to the scales. He said that he paid extra for it, though others received $3 a week.

For extinguishing fires it bridged last year used millions of water.

Heart and Home Talks

Overcoming Fussiness.

She was buying a hat in a millinery shop, and while she was choosing it the clouds gathered and a storm seemed imminent. When she was ready to go the milliner offered her an umbrella, saying she could easily spare it, as she had several about the place.

Did the woman take it with a "thank you" and depart? Indeed, she did not. She detained that busy milliner, who had a half-dozen other customers waiting, while she asked again and again if the milliner was sure she could spare it, while she conjectured whether it would or would not rain, whether some one else might not need it. The milliner was fairly distracted. No one would have blamed her had she taken the woman by the shoulders and gently but firmly put her out.

Many a woman addicted to the fussing habit is not conscious of it. She wonders vaguely why it is that, though she works hard, she gets nothing done like other women. She does not realize that she fritters away time fussing; that by giving so much attention to trifles the big things do not get done; that by being unable to decide what is important and what unimportant her mind is always chaos.

The fussy woman in business is intolerable. She is incapable of knowing what details are essential and what are not. She will waste time over the unimportant, while the necessary are neglected. Or she will fuss around asking the manager or her fellow-workers about this, that and the other until she has everybody's nerves on edge and temper at the breaking point.

Fussiness begins in a state of mind. It is a lack of the sense of proportion. One is unable to see clearly what is vital and what is not, and so trifles loom large. But if the woman who is addicted to this habit would deliberately give time to thinking of the true relations of things, she could cure herself of a most annoying practice and one, too, that fritters away life. Let her calmly sit down and think ahead to the hour's work, or the day's work, or her work in general. Let her sit out what are the chief things in it, which ones drop to minor places. Then let her definitely determine to put these aside and to give them only the brief attention they merit. It will be hard at first. They will jump at her, so to speak, and she will be inclined from force of habit to turn aside from what she is doing and to give them as much thought and time as more essential matters. But by resisting this inclination and holding rigidly to the course of action she has outlined for herself she will gradually overcome the unpleasant habit.

Porterhouse Steak with Mushrooms.—Boil a half a porterhouse steak. Melt butter and brown some mushrooms in butter and are the special of the first stir until smooth, and brown. Add one cup of stock, and let it boil to the top. Then add a small can of mushrooms. Stir with the mushrooms are heated to a boil. Take from the fire again, and add a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper and pour over the steak.

Strawberry Shortcake.—Wash and beat a quart of strawberries, drain and place in a bowl, adding at the same time a pound of sugar. Let stand four hours, then add the juice of a lemon and three pints of cold water. Stir thoroughly and strain through a coarse cloth, pressing hard, so as to extract all of the juice. Taste to see that it is sufficiently sweet, as all berries vary in acidity, set on ice until chilled and serve with a little crushed ice in the glasses.

NEW SPRING COAT.

Our cut today is an example of the new spring coats. It is collarless and close at bust line with two large buttons and braided cuffs. Buttons are also used on deep ruffs and at bottom of cut on each side where it is cut away. The model for this sketch was of pin striped blue serge, but it looks equally smart in a plain material.

THE THIN AND WEAK.

Easy Way For Them to Get Strong and Fat.

Samose is not an ordinary medicine; it is a flesh forming food that is adapted to the most delicate. Its tonic effect gives strength and health so that after its use for a short time all the flesh and fat-producing elements in the food will be easily assimilated and retained by the body.

The large sale Druggists W. A. Erman and Son had on Newark since they first introduced it in Newark and the wonderful results following its use have made them such enthusiastic believers in its great merits that they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Samose does not make thin people fat and restore strength and health.

When a gain in weight is noticed after Samose has been used for a week or ten days and health has improved, you notice yourself growing stronger, you certainly should feel more than satisfied with what you have received from the small cost of 50c.

Sent postpaid on receipt of price 50c.

ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Ernest Cooper, a man from Utica, was arrested in this city last night by the police and charged with robbing a slot machine in Utica of $75. The robbery occurred last Friday night and Cooper and two other men were suspected. He was locked up in the city prison and the marshal of the village was notified.

The marshal arrested Smith Harmon and Clyde Meyers, suspected of being implicated in the case and all three men will be given their hearing before Mayor Atherton, for the affidavit was filed before him.

The slot machine was in the restaurant of a man named Joseph, and he filed the affidavit charging them with stealing the machine and the money in the night season, and this charge would really constitute burglary. The hearing will be held on Thursday.

JEFFERSON MEDICAL COLLEGE.

We read from a Philadelphia paper the results of the examination for position of interne or resident physician at Philadelphia General Hospital as announced by the civil service commission.

As the Philadelphia Hospital is the largest in the city, a term there as resident physician is considered excellent training, and for this reason the eighteen vacancies to be supplied are eagerly contested for.

This year Jefferson Medical college made a remarkable triumph for out of the ninety successful men they had forty-six. One hundred and thirty-five altogether from the different colleges having taken the examination. Of the eighteen with highest grades who will secure positions as resident physicians, Jefferson supplies sixteen.

The other two men being each from Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Edward E. Montgomery, son of Mrs. H. A. Montgomery of East Main street, a graduate of Denison, '71, and Jefferson Medical College '74, is a member of the faculty of Jefferson Medical college.

What this administration seems to want is a Loeb to take the blame for two previous denials that have to be taken back.

MY DOCTOR MIGHTY FINE

Mrs. Rattle Cain of Carrsville
Thinks all the More of Her
Doctor Since He Advised
Her to Take Cardui.

Carrsville, Ky.—"My doctor," writes Mrs. Rattle Cain, "who advised me to take Cardui, for my troubles, is a mighty fine doctor, and I say God bless Cardui and the people who make it."

"Before I took Cardui, I suffered with female troubles for sixteen years. I would have to send for a doctor every three months, and oh how dreadfully I suffered!"

"I would cramp and have convulsions and it looked like I would die. At last I took Cardui and oh what a surprise I found it was the medicine for me!"

"From the first bottle, I began to mend and now I am well, can do more work, can walk and go where I please and don't hurt me, and I owe it all to Cardui."

Cardui helps sick women back to health. It has been doing this for over 50 years. It is not a laxative, or a heart or kidney medicine—it is a woman's medicine.

If you are a woman, try it.

The board elected the above named principals and teachers for the term of one year.

A communication was read from Miss Rose Pugh, who is teaching in a mission school in Cairo, Egypt, thanking them for the leave of absence granted her for one year and stating she would like to remain another year, and asking for further extension of her leave of absence.

Miss Iva Morgan, now teaching in Spokane, Wash., wrote thanking the board for her leave of absence of one year and asking for another year's leave as she had been re-elected at an increase of salary and would like to spend a little more time in the west. The board gave both indefinite leave of absence.

The superintendent reported that Prof. Sanger of the High school, would like to be excused from the last week of school in June, as he had been offered a position in Denver, Colo., which necessitates his being there during that week. He was excused on condition that if his work is not completed, he will procure someone to complete the same, at his own expense.

The board named the following local levy for school purposes for the next school year beginning Sept. 1:

For tuition fund, estimated amount needed, exclusive of the state levy of $11,000—$55,300. Rate of levy, 6 mills.

Contingent fund—$25,000. Rate of levy 2.7 mills.

Building fund—$9,300. Rate 1 mill.

Sinking fund—$17,000. Rate, 1.5 mills.

Total estimated amount—$106,600.

Totals rate of levy—11.5 mills.

This rate of levy is the same as last year.

The board passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Board of Education of Newark, Ohio, approves of the effort now being made to enlarge the work of the United States Bureau of Education and therefore requests its representatives in Congress to exert their influence to secure the appropriation of $75,000 for a staff of specialists for the conduct of field work under the supervision of the said United States Bureau of Education.

As a number of teachers have presented to the board petitions for increase of salaries on motion they instructed the committee on teachers and salaries to take up and revise the salary schedule as it now exists, and report any changes they deem just and advisable to the board at the next meeting, which will be held as stated above.

Daddy's Bedtime Story
At the End of the Rainbow
He Set Out to Search For Its End

ONCE upon a time," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "there was a little boy who had heard some one say that if you could go to the end of a rainbow where it touches the ground you would find there a pot of gold and jewels, such as mother has in her ring."

"Is it really so, daddy?" asked Jack. "If you went to the end of the rainbow would you really find such things there? I'd like to try to go there."

"No, Jack," said daddy, "it is not so. It is only a story. There really is no end to a rainbow. The rainbow is generally seen right after a heavy rain when the air is still filled with tiny drops. Then the sun comes out, and the shining of the sunbeams on the tiny drops of water in the air causes the beautiful colors of the rainbow. So you see, there really is no such thing as a rainbow, and there cannot be any end to it on the earth. People who look for the end of a rainbow are sure to be disappointed. Perhaps you have heard some one say of some one else, 'Why, he was chasing a rainbow.' That means that he was trying to do something that cannot be done."

"Well, the little boy I started to tell you about did not know this. He believed what he had heard, that if you find the end of the rainbow you will find a great sum of money there. So he watched for the rainbow, and after a heavy shower in the springtime, when the earth and the sky were lit up by the beautiful bow, he set out to search for its end."

"It was quite late in the afternoon when he started, without telling any one about his plans. You see he thought he would find the gold and the jewels for his mother. Instead he only caused her worry."

"After he had walked a long distance he did not seem to be any nearer the end of the rainbow than before. He asked some people whom he met where the end was, but they only smiled at him and told him to keep on walking. So he kept on and on and on, until the evening began to approach rapidly and the rainbow became dimmer and dimmer. After a time he could not see it any more, and it became quite dark, and he got cold and hungry."

"By that time he had gone a long distance from the city where he lived and was out in the country on a road that was strange to him. When it grew dark he became frightened and began to cry. He cried so long and so hard that he cried himself to sleep, and he was sleeping at the roadside when some people drove past and found him there."

"They took him up and brought him home with them. In the morning they found out where he lived and took him back to his home. You may be sure that never again did he try to find the end of the rainbow. He knew better after that. Now hop into bed."

SLASHING THE RAILROAD BILL.
Congressmen Take Turns in Amending the Measure.
CAPITAL'S TRAINING SCHOOL

Representative Weeks Giving Pointers on the Postal Savings Bank Bill. Longworth Now Branching Out For Himself—Havens' Maiden Speech.

Washington, May 25.—One day the railroad bill is up and the next it is down. The regulars declare a truce with the insurgents only to have it blazed over and then fix up a coalition with the Democrats that fails by the wayside. As a result the bill is up in the air most of the time, and when it slights nobody knows when it will take another aeroplane joy ride. One day Cummins artlessly amends it, the next Hollister beams at it with heavy artillery and the third La Follette goes at it with blinding mane. At other times Chapp and Bristow have their desks piled with books ready to smack them on the poor bill and smother it to death. It is generally admitted that there was an attempted combine between the regulars and the Democrats that involved not only the passage of the railroad bill practically in its present form, but the stardom bill as well. This was the price exacted by the Democrats. The failure to hold the combine together left both measures in an uncertain state. It is not now known what a day may bring forth. A large faction insists that congress pass the remaining appropriation bills and go home. This element has been in evidence all through the session, but has become more active since the recent disagreements.

A Postal Training School.
Representative Weeks, chairman of the house postoffice committee, has been holding training classes on the postal savings bank bill. Considering Weeks' original attitude on the measure, it would naturally be supposed that these training classes were intended to put members into fighting condition to knock the bill out, but Mr. Weeks says that this is far from his purpose. Indeed, he is carrying on a school to teach his brothers in error the natural beauties and strong points of the bill. This is encouraging and gives evidence that Brother Taft did not labor with the house postoffice committee in vain. But, instead of having the other members go to school to Weeks, why not let them try the course that was so instructive to him and go to the White House?

Praying For Uncle Joe.
Rev. H. N. Couden, the blind chaplain of the house, who recently made the body gasp by praying that the muck rakers should rake in front of their own doors, later on gave the house another shock by offering up thanks for "the courage which enables one to face the cannon's mouth or resist the bayonet charge" before he went on to pray for "the higher moral courage which enables one to stand for his convictions though the whole world may oppose him, for a clear vision, right convictions and the courage to stand for them, now, here and always."

As this was just after Uncle Joe's New York speech, several people wondered if the chaplain had his superior officer in mind.

Longworth as Spokesman.
Representative Nicholas Longworth in his new role of administration spokesman has not only supported the president's plan for the tariff board, but has called upon all insurgents to return to the fold. The opinion is gaining ground that in his more recent attitude Longworth is branching out for himself and that his utterances do not necessarily reflect the opinion of any other member of the family.

Havens' Support of Hughes.
The maiden speech of Representative James S. Havens of New York, the man who recently beat George W. Aldridge in the Rochester district, was in opposition both to the Payne tariff and political bosses. Owing to the mention of Mr. Havens as the Democratic candidate for governor of New York, his complimentary references to Governor Hughes and the Hughes policies excited general interest. Mr. Havens was liberally applauded, and especially so when he referred to the "little bosses" as blind leaders of the blind.

Balinger Testimony All In.
The taking of testimony in the Balinger case came to an end rather suddenly, although not unexpectedly. There now remain only the briefs to be presented by the lawyers and the arguments, all of which should be in this week. Under the circumstances a decision of the case should be reached during the present session.

Another Job For Roosevelt.
President Taft has commended the Bartholdt bill for universal peace and expressed approval of the idea that a delegation of leading citizens should travel around the world in advocacy of a peace movement. It can be imagined that such a delegation would receive a most enthusiastic welcome in all lands, especially if headed by Theodore Roosevelt, who has been mentioned as the right man to lead such a crusade.

LITTLE SUFFERER FROM ECZEMA

Grew Worse in Spite of Six Months of Ablest Treatment—Sleep Terribly Broken—Face, Head and Hands Masses of Dreadful Humor.

A SINGLE SET OF CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I feel it my duty to let you know with what success I have used the Cuticura Remedies. When our baby was seven weeks old he broke out with what we thought was heat, but which gradually grew worse. We called in a doctor. He said it was eczema and he gave us some medicine. It did not do any good. Six months with three of the best doctors in Athens but he only got worse. His face, head and hands were a mass of sores. There was no end to the suffering for him. We had to let his little hands keep him from scratching. He never knew what it was to sleep well from the time he took the disease until he was cured. He kept us awake all hours in the night and his head was so hot that you would call good. We tried everything but the right thing. Finally I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies and am pleased to say that he did not use all of them until he was cured. We have waited a year and a half to see if it would return but it never has and to-day his skin is clear and fair as it possibly could be. I hope Cuticura may save some of the little ones suffering and also their pocket-books. John Leason, 1403 Atchison St., Atchison, Kan., Oct. 19, 1909."

Cuticura comfort for all who suffer from facial eruptions such as acne, pimples and blackheads, scrofula, facial eczema, ringworm, tetter, redness, roughness and all perspiration is found in gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment followed by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. For preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants, children and adults, Cuticura Soap and Ointment are priceless.
